

The use of cell phones on commercial aircraft should continue to be banned. Close confines, increased stress levels and confusion will lead to a marked decline in the travel experience of all.

As a certified Flight Attendant the rampant use of cell phones raises security concerns and will severely handicap crew members working in the cabin to identify, assess and react appropriately.